PROFILE

A Web and Mobile Applications Development student, seeking practicum placement to be able to utilize the knowledge learned from the program; eager to put skills set and experience to work in real world development.

Ready to for a chance of career and face new challenges and be able to develop fully with a continuous desire to learn and improve.

After I finished my course with Python, I wanted to take a deep dive in the Backend Development, started with Python and Django, MySQL, Git and Docker. Also I include to take a deep dive in C# in my learning journey. I started to use Linux to get more familiar with the terminal. I will keep myself motivated and following this learning journey to be always updated.
